

Dear Jim and Jude,

Just wanted to say thank you once more for making our few days with you such a delight. As I said to you, we have been coming over to France for a good many years now, the odd week or two and that's the first time that just the two of us have stayed B & B. So it was a very new experience and had it not worked out could have spoiled the whole week end. But it didn't, in fact it helped to make the week end good for both of us.

We both feel that we have made new friends. We arrived home safely after a very uneventful journey. We don't know when we will be over again but when we do we will try to visit you and crack open a bottle of wine.

Best of luck to both of you.

Best wishes From Mike and Sheila
